

Pulse Survey of Learners

GOOD NEWS! L&D is getting closer to delivering what learners need, according to our summer 2021 pulse survey of 800 U.S. corporate employees. But whoo-ee, we'd sure like to see these numbers increase even more sharply — the bad news is there are still too many "No, not at all" and "A few or sometimes" only answers. But we think the better news is there are easy ways to improve, like using collaborative online learning at the heart of a blended approach. After all, better for learners = better for business results.

Did the training you took in the last year allow you to ask questions of an instructor or coach and receive a prompt reply during the course?

Did the training you took in the last year allow you to practice the skills being taught during the course (i.e. producing work or responses, other than just a quiz)?

Did the training you took in the last year allow you to share your thoughts and comments about the topic with other people?

Was the training you took directly applicable to your day-to-day job?

Was the training you took directly applicable to your day-to-day job?

RESPONSES BY COMPANY SIZE

■ A FEW TIMES / SOMETIMES
 ■ MOST OR ALL OF THE TIME
 ■ NO, NOT AT ALL

GREAT NEWS! All you need to get started moving the needle for your L&D department to the coveted "Most or all of the time" answer box is to address learner needs with collaborative learning. In Intrepid's Blended learning League starter kit INTREPIDLEARNING.COM/RESOURCES/BLENDED-LEARNING-LEAGUE-STARTER-KIT you can get the whitepaper, infographics, Blended Learning League trading cards, and more resources that will help you meet learners where they are and therefore take your business where it needs to go.